

One Size Fits All

It may be cheaper, or more convenient, to buy an article of clothing that is advertised as fitting most body types, but is it something that you would wear to a wedding, company awards dinner, or job interview? Most might wear a "one size fits all garment" around the house or when shopping, but not for more important functions. So, it would be safe to say that we are selective when it comes to what we wear based on the occasion. But this principle is not being applied to citizens in western countries by their own governments. Instead, these officials are moving everyone into a "one size fits all" system of rules and regulations without the approval of the majority in most cases. The sales pitches attempting to justify this trend can sound very reasonable and appealing but the goal behind this movement is more sinister, as explained in the attached link:

The real objective behind this government subterfuge is to remove all vestiges of independence from the citizenry and make everyone dependent on government "from the cradle to the grave". But this is not a new phenomenon in western countries. Instead, it has been creeping in for decades through "the Trojan horse of socialism", and now is morphing into a full-blown Marxist/Communist ideology that is permeating all aspects of western culture:

Too many people are forgetting that governments only have relevance if they are serving and protecting their citizens and implementing the wishes of these citizens. But today the reverse is happening. Those in power are using the citizens and their money for pet projects that often favor and enrich political donors. And, because the majority of citizens don't fund election campaigns, politicians need to express an interest in pleasing their donors, even if it's only in the form of a "nudge nudge;wink wink". In the following article entitled "Prescription Politics" (by Lev Facher) it is hard not to conclude that facilitating the sale of pharmaceutical products takes priority over ensuring there are verifiable health benefits for citizens.

More than two-thirds of Congress cashed a pharma campaign check in 2020, new STAT analysis shows. Pfizer's political action committee alone contributed to 228 lawmakers. Amgen's PAC donated to 218, meaning that each company helped to fund the campaigns of nearly half the lawmakers on Capitol Hill, the sector donated $14 million. Pfizer also wrote checks to 1,048 individual candidates in state legislative races. The drug industry focused in particular on those in key committees that oversee health care legislation.

Therefore, it should be no surprise to see advertisements advocating the Covid vaccine, while ignoring a cautionary approach warning that harmful side effects could be possible. The following is quoted from an article entitled "Largest COVID vaccine study yet evaluates adverse events of special interest" by Jason Gale of Bloomberg News.

Vaccines that protect against severe illness, death and lingering long COVID symptoms from a coronavirus infection were linked to small increases in neurological, blood, and heart-related conditions in the largest global safety study to date. Early in the pandemic these included a higher risk of heart-related inflammation from the mRNA shots made by Pfizer Inc., BioN Tech SE, and Moderna Inc., and an increased risk of a type of blood clot in the brain after immunization with viral-vector vaccines such as the one developed by the University of Oxford and made by AstraZeneca Plc.

This is just one example of a government's inclination to be self-serving, which should be "a wake up call" that human governments can't be trusted to truly serve and protect citizens, which then reinforces the position that submitting to a "one size fits all" globalist government will only make matters worse because even more rights and freedoms will be removed from the citizens; making it virtually impossible to resist whatever these "tyrants" are planning to implement without our input or approval. Although it is not fashionable these days to refer to God's word when dealing with issues like this, it is nonetheless insightful regarding the problems associated with trusting man-made systems of governance. In this example, the citizenry is compared to "prey" or "captives", while the ruling elites are referred to as "the tyrant". Thankfully, the prey and captives will eventually be delivered from the clutches of the tyrants.

Can the prey be taken from the mighty, or the captives of a tyrant be rescued? For thus says the Lord: "Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken (to safety), and the prey of the tyrant be rescued, for I will contend with those who contend with you (cause harm), and I will save your children. I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh, and they shall be drunk with their own blood as with wine. Then (at this future time in history) all flesh shall know that I am the Lord your Savior, and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob (Christ/Messiah) (Isaiah 49:24-26; ESV translation; Ed. notes in parentheses).

Once the citizenry of this planet reaches the point of total oppression in the "one size fits all" totalitarian system that lies ahead, many will cry out for relief just as God said would happen and He will hear and respond.

If you humble yourselves, and pray and seek my face and turn (repent) from your wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven and will forgive your sin and heal your land (2Chronicles 7:14; Ed. note in parenthesis).

This truth applies to all nations, not just the people who were called to serve as priests during the time of the Old Testament.

There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is no male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus (Galatians 3:28).

It should be noted that after God removes each and every form of tyranny from this planet, there will be a "one size fits all" system of government under the leadership of Christ, who is the most benevolent leader who has ever lived, which explains why many people will eagerly seek to learn more about how this system will positively impact their lives.

Now it shall come to pass in the latter days that the mountain (symbol of gov't) of the Lord's house shall be established on the top of the mountains (Satan's forms of gov't) and shall be exalted above the hills (man's forms of gov't); and peoples shall flow to it. Many nations shall come and say, "Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; He will teach us His ways, and we shall walk in His paths." (Micah 4:1-2; Ed. notes in parentheses; emphasis added)

One law and one custom shall be for you and for the stranger who sojourns with you (Numbers 15:16; emphasis added).*

So, a totally different attitude toward God, and His way of living, will be commonplace following the end of the last tyrannical system of man's government, but none of this will occur until mankind reaches the point of being absolutely fed up with each and every human government that has been created, including the last one that will be a "one size fits all" totalitarian system.
